Pandemic Economy Research

Following the outbreak of Covid 19, the pandemic, in January 2020, a comprehensive research program, focusing on various aspects of changes in the economy and society was launched by the Institute. While the year 2020 contributed a set of 15 studies on various aspects of the Pandemic, these have come out with both new researchable issues and policy recommendations. In the year 2021 also the thrust on the subject continues. While the Pandemic has entered into a third stage, studies will be focused on livelihood security in various subsectors. Detailed list of new publications are carried by www.isedpublications.org. Print copies as well as e-copies can be ordered from this Portal.